

Life-Termer Confesses Murder Of Rachel Taylor

Convict Admits He Killed Penn State Coed In 1940 To Hide Criminal Record

MCALISTER, Okla., Sept. 14 (AP)—A life-term convict confessed today he murdered a Pennsylvania coed 14 years ago to hide his criminal career of campus dope peddler.

Deputy Sheriff Abner Dear said he obtained the confession from Jack Ray, 34, after six months of painstaking detective work.

News Greeted With Some Skepticism

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Centre County today greeted with mixed reaction the confession of an Oklahoma life term convict to the 1940 slaying of Penn State Rachel Taylor.

The sudden announcement of the confession of Jack Ray, 34-year-old convicted slayer, took people by surprise. Some were thankful, others were highly skeptical.

"A study of all the facts in his confession is necessary," one veteran reporter who covered the slaying, declared, "but at the moment it's hard to believe."

University officials had no comment.

Dist. Atty. John R. Miller of Millheim, said he doesn't see any chance of bringing the convict back to Centre County until he has completed his term in Oklahoma.

"If the life term there means life, he may never be brought back," Miller said.

Edward R. Miller, sheriff during the time of the slaying, expressed the hope that the brutal crime is well on the way to solution.

But John R. Juba, State College police chief then and now, said he would not be satisfied until he had heard more details on how the crime was committed as described by Ray.

"All I've heard is that a fellow in a prison out west has confessed," Juba said.

Former Sheriff Edward R. Miller, now a State College Grocer, was more specific on the confession.

"We never questioned anyone by that name," Miller said.

"From the marks on the girl's body, I don't think they could be made by a pistol. The marks looked as if she had been beaten by something like tin snips. There were long grooves."

"We had a confession once before from a man arrested for another crime," Miller said, "but when it came to reenacting the crime, he couldn't do it."

Miller declared, however, that he earnestly hopes the case is ended. "I'd like to see the murder solved. I know the state police have enough that if we get hold of the right man they can tell readily."

Miller recalled the night of the crime as very foggy with some rain. The rain was blamed later in the case for obliteration of many clues at the place where the body of the 17-year-old girl was found.

Italy Supports Eden's Defense Pact Proposal

ROME, Sept. 14 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today won Italian support for a new seven-nation defense alliance to replace the French-killed EDC plan.

Tomorrow he tackles French Premier Pierre Mendes-France in Paris.

A high British source said the success here gives Eden solid six-nation support for the projected alliance, based on the 1948 Brussels pact.

But American sources here feared France would reject the new plan to add German divisions to Western Europe's defense.

General agreement already has been reported from West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, other partners in the EDC treaty which was killed Aug. 30 by the French National Assembly.

"The Eden plan"—as Italians have dubbed it—calls for less than the supranational organization and single-uniformed European army which U.S. diplomacy plugged for so long.

The purpose still would be to beef up the free world's defenses in Europe with West German manpower. Prime Minister Churchill's government hopes that British membership in the alliance will erase German fears that a resurgent Germany might become the dominant Continental power.

Eden's task tomorrow is to sell that viewpoint to French Premier Pierre Mendes-France. On Thursday, the North Atlantic council will hear his report in closed session at Paris.

U.S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy also has been making a round of European capitals, sounding out national leaders in secret talks of what comes next.

Ray's confession said he beat to death Rachel Taylor, 17, after she innocently came into possession of a letter linking Ray with a dope ring and illicit love at Penn State College, now Pennsylvania State University.

Miss Taylor's body, nearly nude and mutilated, was found near the Penn State campus March 28, 1940. Who killed her and why has been one of the eastern state's major crime mysteries of the last decade.

Ray is serving a life term at McAlester State Penitentiary for an Oklahoma killing committed six months before Miss Taylor was slain. He said in his 600-word confession he killed the coed because she threatened to take the incriminating letter to the college dean.

Pennsylvania authorities said they wanted time to check Ray's statement against known facts in the Taylor case.

Dear got his first tip six months ago from behind the prison walls, where Ray is serving a life sentence for a murder at Cordell, Okla.

"Ray made the mistake of telling about his crime years ago in Dallas," Dear said, but he refused to give any more details.

Ray's confession, reading like a crime novel, linked gambling interests at Dallas with big time dope pushing in the East and was climaxed by his vivid description of the girl's slaying. He then told how he stripped her body and finally found the incriminating letter hidden in her brassiere.

Ray's confession, as reported by Dear, gives the following version:

After the Cordell slaying in 1939, he fled to Dallas where the late kinkpin gambler, Herbert (The Cat) Noble gave him money and the names of contacts in the East.

Ray went to Brooklyn, where he was hidden by Noble's friends. He changed his name and received a forged Social Security card and two union cards.

Ray said he began delivering dope and made trips to the University of New Hampshire, Cleveland, New York and Wildwood, N. J. The latter town was the home of Miss Taylor but Dear said this was just a coincidence.

Ray said in his confession he later went to State College under the guise of being a sweater salesman and sold dope on the campus for the head of a ring at the college. He said he even wore a letter jacket and posed as a student.

He said he met a 17-year-old girl by the name of Candy, a narcotics user. After three months of dating him, Candy became angry and wrote a letter to Miss Taylor revealing her illicit love and the dope ring details.

Fearing detection when he found out about the letter, Ray said he conferred with the head of the dope ring in the college town and they decided to try to get the letter from Miss Taylor.

He said he watched her arrive at the bus station from her Easter vacation in 1940 and gave Miss Taylor a ride as she walked to her dormitory.

Ray said she turned down $500 he offered for the letter and then he pulled out his gun to scare her. The confession details how Miss Taylor ran from the car and Ray caught her. "I swung at her with the gun and knocked her loose. She fell to her knees. I knew I had hit her too hard so I hit her about three times, not more than four times over the head."

Ray said he stripped the girl and found the letter.

He said the head of the ring then gave him $200 and he left for Dallas. Ray was arrested in Oklahoma for driving a stolen car.

In 1942, he was convicted of slaying the Cordell man, George Goodman.

RUINED CAR of Neil L. Pearson, Portland, rests by guard rail of Route 611 on Foxtown Hill early yesterday after police said his car entered wrong lane and collided head-on with auto coming down hill. Damages totaled $2,400 to cars and to tractor-trailer involved.

Two Automobiles Demolished, Truck Damaged, Driver Hurt

TWO CARS WERE DEMOLISHED and a man injured in a three-vehicle crash at 12:15 a.m. yesterday on the south side of Foxtown Hill. Damages totaled $2,400.

Neil L. Pearson, 17, Portland, was driving north, according to Troopers Don Henzey and Emil J. Weber, of Stroudsburg. He suffered cuts on the mouth and had several upper and lower teeth knocked out, police said.

Others involved in the crash were Clause A. Domben, 45, Mount Pocono seaman; and truck-trailer driver Alan Schultz, 26, Liberty, Pa.

Troopers said Schultz was passing another truck-trailer going north up the hill. At that moment Pearson pulled out to pass both trucks, police said, and entered the south-bound lane to do so.

The Pearson car collided head-on with the south-bound car of Domben, said troopers.

The impact threw the rear of Pearson's car in front of the back trailer wheels of the truck, said police. The wheels mounted the rear of the car and crushed it in passing.

Police are continuing the investigation, Henzey said.

The U.S. 7th Fleet is pledged to defend Formosa from attack, and recently the Chinese communists have bombarded nearby Quemoy.

The spokesman said the transfers were dictated primarily by the Navy's desire to reduce the need for shifting units and the consequent dislocation of the family lives of crew members.

The Midway will be making its first tour of duty in the Pacific, relieving one of the smaller Essex class carriers now operating there and shortly due for overhaul. After serving with the fleet at sea for some months, the spokesman said, the Midway will return to the Pacific coast for large-scale modernization.

The two destroyer squadrons designated for transfer to the Pacific are the 28th now based at Norfolk, Va., and the 18th at Newport, R. I.

Bang Backfired; Meeting Delayed

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 14 (AP)—Chairman A. H. Lathrop of Enka, N. C., started to end a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Southern Traffic League, Inc., today with a bang of his gavel—but the bang never came.

As he drew back his arm, the head of the gavel flew off, went through a window of the second-floor room and landed in the middle of the street below.

This was the story which unfolded as a result of investigation by East Stroudsburg officers: Wayne R. Posten was conducting an auction at the Robert Shifley residence, 288 Washington St., also the residence of Rev. Arthur Henderson.

Bidder Not So Successful; Someone Else Took Furniture

THE TRIO that drove off with a retired minister's table and chairs from an East Stroudsburg auction Monday were being sought by police yesterday.

This was the story which unfolded as a result of investigation by East Stroudsburg officers: Wayne R. Posten was conducting an auction at the Robert Shifley residence, 288 Washington St., also the residence of Rev. Arthur Henderson.

Rev. Henderson had a dinette chrome-legged formica table and three maple chairs up for auction. The four items were knocked down to a Mr. Hiller of Stroudsburg, police said, for $14, and the bidding went on to other items.

A short while later, as one onlooker rested comfortably in one of the chairs, a woman approached.

She told the onlooker to get up—she wanted to load up her table and chairs. He did—and she did, assisted by two men. The furniture was put into a stake truck as dozens of people looked on. Off went the truck.

No one thought a thing of it—until Hiller went to claim his table and chairs about 10:20 p.m. Police were called promptly, but there were no descriptions of the trio and their truck as there were witnesses, police said.

Rev. Henderson returned Hiller's $14 and took the loss himself.

McCarthy's Challenge Rejected

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Senators weighing censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) late today unanimously turned down McCarthy's challenge of the fairness of the investigating committee's legal staff.

The special committee said it had "absolute confidence" in the fairness of its aides.

McCarthy and his lawyer had said that chief counsel E. Wallace Chadwick and his assistants, Guy G. De Furia among them, had acted as prosecutors in the hearings and hence should not help write the report on the committee's eventual findings.

The committee's report will serve as a guide to the Senate when it returns this fall or early winter to act on the censure charges filed at McCarthy by Senators Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Morse (Ind-Ore.).

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) read a statement rejecting the challenge against Chadwick and De Furia. He said there is an additional objection too—that "if the motion were granted it would, in effect, probably delay for several weeks the final report to the Senate" because of the difficulty of finding unprejudiced men willing to serve, and the time it would take newcomers to familiarize themselves with the testimony.

French Envoy, Dulles Confer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles went over critical European problems with the French ambassador today and also set to work on a report to the American people on peace efforts in the Far East.

He will deliver his Far East report tomorrow night.

On his second day back in Washington after helping draft the Southeast Asia defense pact at Manila, Dulles met for 55 minutes with French Ambassador Henri Bonnet.

Afterward the ambassador told newsmen they had what he called a "four d'horizon—an exchange of views on many, many questions." Bonnet said he sought the conference because he leaves tomorrow night for consultations at Paris with Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

A few minutes after Bonnet's visit, the State Department announced Dulles would make a 15-minute radio-television appearance tomorrow night.

His topic will be the Manila pact. Arrangements included live telecast by DuMont at 7:45 p.m., EST, rebroadcast by CBS at 10:30 p.m., radio rebroadcast by ABC, Mutual and NBC at 9:15 p.m., and by CBS sometime after that.

Bonnet told questioning reporters he talked with Dulles "about problems created by the French Parliament's rejection of EDC"—the European Defense Community which would have included Germans in a six-nation army.

Bonnet said he will fly to Paris from New York City tomorrow night and will return in ten or 15 days—"when I may have some news."

Chest Directors Seek Joint Meeting With CLU In Effort To Iron Out Current Dispute

A MEETING of representatives from the Central Labor Union executive committee and the Community Chest board may be held soon, Elton P. Hall, Chest president, said last night.

Hall made the announcement following a telephone conversation with John Farley, president of the CLU. The Community Chest board passed a motion yesterday which asked that a meeting of groups from the two organizations be held as soon as possible.

Chest action was taken following release of a CLU decision to abstain from supporting the Community Chest campaign.

The CLU based its action, it reported, on the "anti-union activities of the YMCA directors." The YMCA is one of the Chest's 12 member agencies.

Work on the new Y building on Main St. in Stroudsburg has been the object of a ten-month controversy.

Directors of the Monroe County Community Chest met after the CLU vote was made public. They passed the following motion unanimously:

"... that such members of the executive committee of the Monroe County Community Chest, as the president of the Chest deems advisable, contact the proper representatives of the Central Labor Union and discuss with them their action in abstaining from supporting the Community Chest campaign."

After the motion was passed, Hall, as Chest president, wrote a letter to Farley inviting the CLU to meet with a Chest group to discuss the matter. This letter, mailed yesterday, was supplemented by a personal phone call to Farley last night, Hall said.

In the phone conversation, the Chest president said, Farley expressed a belief that such a meeting could be arranged.

Wiley Urges New System Of UN Voting

By EDWIN B. HAARINKSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) raised new protests today against Russia having three votes in the United Nations, and recommended study of proposals for a new system of U. N. voting.

One of these proposals is to base voting strength on the population of member nations and the size of the contributions they make to the U. N.

Wiley is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He made his comments in connection with the release of a committee staff study on U. N. representation and voting.

Under the Yalta agreement, Wiley said, Soviet Russia "obtained the admission of Byelorussia and the Ukraine as full members of the United Nations."

Byelorussia and the Ukraine are constituent states of the Soviet Union, "somewhat like Texas and New York are constituent states of our own federal republic," Wiley said.

"If they deserve separate representation, then we should seek additional votes, for Texas, New York, Wisconsin and other states of the union."

Wiley said the present system "not only gave the Soviet Union three times the voting power she deserves; what is even worse it tripled her speaking power in the General Assembly."

Brooklyn Boy Returns From Cost-Free Trip To Europe, Runs Into Trouble On Television

By JAMES DEVLIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—An 11-year-old boy got back today from a 15-cent trip to England and promptly encountered stormier seas on television.

Eugene Hart, a dark haired 72-pounder, boarded the liner United States unnoticed in New York 11 days ago and made the round trip at no cost except for the subway fare from his Brooklyn home to Manhattan.

He still jingled two of the 17 cents he started out with.

Eugene was escorted before TV cameras of the NBC "Today" show and was asked by reporter Tom Naud why he had gone away.

"Grandmother threw a knife at me," the boy remarked casually. The statement later proved exaggerated.

Nobody was more startled than the boy's mother, Mrs. Hildegard

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—"local issues" today for their loss of the Maine governorship while Democrats hailed the victory of their own candidate as a foretaste of success in the Nov. 2 congressional election.

National chairmen of both parties gave their divergent views in separate statements followed by a joint news conference, while other political leaders chimed in with individual post mortems on yesterday's first-in-the-nation election.

One thing was pretty generally agreed upon: A split among Maine Republicans contributed to GOP Gov. Burton M. Cross' defeat at the hands of Edmund S. Muskie, a onetime Truman administration official.

Republicans sought to brush off Cross' defeat and spotlight the victories of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith and all other GOP candidates for Congress in Maine, while Democrats hopefully weighed the reduced winning margins of the GOP candidates.

In Denver, President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, voiced pleasure over "the victory of our entire (GOP) congressional delegation." Hagerty declined to talk about the party's loss of the governorship.

Similarly GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall messaged Mrs. Smith and the other successful Republican candidates congratulations on winning "in the face of stiffer than usual opposition and the obstacles of local issues."

"It is a tribute to each of you," Hall's telegram said, "to your records in Congress and President Eisenhower's splendid Republican program that the voters of Maine saw fit to distinguish between national and state issues and return you to Washington."

Stephen A. Mitchell, the Democratic chairman, said in a statement that Muskie's winning margin "exceeded our hopes."

Mitchell hit hardest, however, on the vote in the other contests. He figured the Republicans got 12 per cent less of the total vote than in 1952, and he said a similar shift in other areas would give the Democrats control of Congress in November.

Forty Republicans now in Congress won their seats two years ago by 5 per cent or less.

Mitchell said the Maine outcome was "particularly significant" in that "the Republican party chose to make support of the Eisenhower administration the chief issue."

Bank Robbed Of $111,170

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 14 (AP)—A calm gunman dressed in GI fatigues robbed a Southwest Albuquerque bank of $111,170 today and escaped in a car.

He forced six employees and a customer to lie on the floor and at gunpoint directed Manager A. R. Salazar of the Five Points Branch of the Bank of Mexico to turn over the money.

'Frog Men' Repulsed

TAIPEI, Formosa, Wednesday, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Nationalists yesterday repulsed a light "frog men" raid on its island fortress of Quemoy and once more pounded Red fortifications by sea and air.

After the stewardess spotted him he made the rest of the trip under the watchful eye of the ship's physician.

Meeting him at the pier were his mother and an uncle, Vincent Recca of Cambria Heights, Queens.

The boy denied a news report from Bossier City, La., where he formerly lived, that running away was nothing new for him.

Recca said, however, the boy once took a train trip without permission to see his father in Beaumont.

Mrs. Hart said she was sure the boy did not intend to stay aboard the ship when it sailed. To a question whether she planned any punishment, she said:

"He was talked to. I don't think he'll ever do it again."

Gulf Oil Corp. Launches Big Advertising Campaign

THE DAILY RECORD is scheduled to participate in one of the largest advertising campaigns for a major oil company when the Gulf Oil Corp. launches its newest gasoline. The product, according to the local distributor Walter S. Peeney, is super-refined to meet the demands of today's high-compression engines.

Final road testing in this area was made recently by Gulf caravans to determine the performance characteristics of the new product, Mr. Peeney said. The product is being introduced country-wide today. "The product prevents excessive deposits from forming in the first place and this, in turn, gives extra gasoline mileage."

Newspapers, magazines, TV, radio and outdoor posters will be used in the most extensive advertising campaign in the history of the Gulf Oil Corp., the statement said.

MONROE PLASTICS, whose plant is located at Eight and Phillips Sts., Stroudsburg, has introduced a new household product on the market.
It is known as the "3 in 1 dispenser" and consists of a glass container about five inches tall and a red styrene plastic lid.
The lid is made in two parts, one being a dial that can be turned to the desired position when the housewife wants to pour, shake or measure whatever is contained in the dispenser.

According to Lester I. Katz, owner of Monroe Plastics, the dispenser can be used to store sugar, salt, spices, flour, cake decorations, soap powder, instant coffee or any ingredient that will pour. Thousands of the dispensers have been assembled, and packed at the local plant and distributed to all parts of the United States and several points in Canada. Large shipments have gone to the major department and chain stores in the large cities, Katz said.
At present, Katz is in Boston displaying his product at the New England Hardware Show. He previously showed it in Chicago, New York and Philadelphia.

Chest Campaign Committee Optimistic As Drive Approaches

Groundwork Is Laid For Solicitation

MEMBERS of the 1954 Community Chest campaign committee held a "highly optimistic" planning session yesterday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Campaign Chairman Walter Wyckoff said the meeting was marked by a "feeling of optimism on the part of the division heads attending." Wyckoff said cooperation from those in charge of all divisions has been "wonderful" in setting up the stages of the campaign.

The campaign chairman noted that hundreds of volunteer workers were waiting to serve as solicitors when the Chest drive opens officially on Sept. 27.

This is the date of the annual "kick-off" dinner. The dinner will be held at the Penn-Stroud. It is paid for by Gerald P. O'Neill, owner-host of the hotel, as a part of his yearly contribution to the success of the Chest campaign, Wyckoff noted.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting preliminary reports on activities within divisions were heard.

Fran Shinn, head of the resort division solicitation, outlined his plans for the remainder of the drive. Shinn pointed out that letters had been mailed early in August, to all resorts in the area, asking for a contribution and enclosing a pledge card for use by the owner.

These letters, Shinn said, were followed up by postcards to the resort owners and managers, reminding them of the campaign and of their opportunity to contribute to it.

Other division heads reporting on their plans for the campaign were Mrs. Bobby Westbrook, Frank Lanterman, J. H. Stoner, Mrs. Harry Weiss, J. Nelson Westbrook, James Somers and Leon Koster.

Mrs. Westbrook told the group that letters have been sent out to all women's organizations in the county. Many of these organizations are holding their first meetings of the new club year sometime in September. Some contributions have already been voted on by club executives, she said.

Wyckoff congratulated the division heads on the fine groundwork they have laid for the current campaign. The kick-off dinner, he said, is being arranged by Mrs. Martha Martin, a Chest official who has worked many years in campaigns and on the social planning committee.

Other persons attending the meeting, besides division heads noted before, were Mr. O'Neill, Elton P. Hall, Chest president; Mrs. Ethel West, executive secretary, and Joseph Webster, in charge of radio publicity.

said he specially recalled finding the girl's suitcase full of clothes about three miles from the body near a cemetery.

Dist. Atty. Miller said that on the basis of present information he would prepare an indictment for submission to the Centre County grand jury. If they return a true bill in the case, a detainee could be lodged against Ray in Oklahoma, which would hold him in the event he is released from his current term.

Pfc. Andrew Royko of the state police at Lewisburg, who was one of the investigating officers, recalled that Miss Taylor's skull "was crushed rather badly."

"Before I make any statement on the confession, I would want to talk to the man (Ray) himself or see the statement. There are a lot of details that would have to tie in."

Royko also noted that there had been other "confessions" to the slaying.

"But as soon as we asked the confessions, certain questions, they were lost," Royko said.

The weather at the time of the slaying was raw, Royko recalled. He said there was some snow on the ground and there was rain and fog for the night of the murder.

Bonn, where he held lengthy secret talks with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He told newsmen in President Marshall Tito's capital that his talks with Adenauer concerning "affairs of mutual interest" were satisfactory but confidential.

Murphy dismissed as purely coincidental the fact his trip developed at the time of Eden's somewhat similar journey.

The inspiration for "the Eden plan" is the Brussels alliance of 1948. Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg at that time wanted a "collective defense" system against any new aggression. They agreed to go automatically to the aid of any alliance member who was attacked.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Elsa Hoehne, East Stroudsburg RD2; a son, Rudolf Manheim, East Stroudsburg; two grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a brother, August Jourdan, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Civil Defense Meeting Slated

WILLIAM BAILEY, public relations officer for Federal Civil Defense Region Two, will speak at a public CD meeting in Stroudsburg Sept. 28, it was announced last night.

He will be the first of a number of government CD speakers who will visit the county, Monroe deputy CD director Paul Crown told local CD officials at the courthouse. Bailey will talk at the courthouse when he appears.

A divisional meeting to deal with medical problems of CD at the local level will be held shortly, Crown said. Date was not set.

Plans were laid for local action during the surprise regional CD alert which will come sometime during the week of Oct. 2.

New System Of UN Voting Urged

Wiley said he had been forced "to sit by the hour and listen to repetitive tirades by the numerous Soviet delegates."

Wiley said he ordered his committee staff to study the voting record of the Assembly because the present U. N. organization gives "big states too much power" through the use of the veto by any of them in the Security Council.

Similarly, he said, "The little nations have too much power" under the present principle of "one-state-one-vote" in the General Assembly.

Under this, the staff study showed that a majority could be obtained in the 60 nation Assembly by small nations representing as little as five per cent of the population of all U. N. members.

Similarly, under the requirement for a two-thirds majority on "important matters" before the Assembly, it showed that states containing only two and three-tenths per cent of the total U. N. population could block action if they stood together.

These minority actions never have taken place, but Wiley said the possibility should be studied, especially with admissions pending for 19 nations including Germany, Japan and Italy.

Grand Jury Indicts Two In Only Cases Presented

THE GRAND JURY returned indictments in both cases presented to it yesterday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fetscher, of Effort, may now stand trial on a charge of obstructing the sheriff in serving a legal process.

Sheriff Jacob F. Altmease filed the charge after, he said, Mrs. Fetscher used a garden hose to drive him and two companions from her property. The sheriff said he was executing proper legal steps at the time, in connection with sale of some items there to cover a $50 debt.

Also slated for trial is Earl Gardner, 32, Canadensis resort worker, accused of burglary. Mount Pocono troopers said he attempted to steal antiques from the summer home of George L. Madison, 137 Green St., East Stroudsburg.

The grand jury went on to inspect county-owned facilities after hearing the two cases presented by District Attorney Elmer D. Christine.

The report of their inspection was brief, contained few suggestions.

"We have visited the county home and have found everything in good order except for painting and the condition of the floors in the men's quarters," said the report.

"A new carpet in the reception hall of the home is also recommended. The caretakers of the home are to be commended for the fine work they are doing."

The jurors said they had visited the jail, found everything in order. Paint was recommended for the Cancer Society building on Sarah St.; and a repainting job for "several rooms" at the Courthouse. The report was signed by Florence M. Bates, secretary.

Three Treated For Injuries After Accident

THREE EAST Stroudsburg college students were hurt in a two-car collision at Washington and Crystal Sts., East Stroudsburg, at 8:25 p.m. Monday.

Bruised, cut and shaken were Diane E. Baughner, 19, Milmont Park, Del., the driver; and two passengers, Joyce Steele, Wyalusing, Pa.; and Connie Drake, 20, South Sterling, said Officer Travis Seese of East Stroudsburg.

The other driver, moving east on Washington St., and starting to turn left onto Crystal, was James B. Dave, 38, of 48 N. Third St., Stroudsburg, police said.

The girls, all students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, were discharged after treatment at the General Hospital dispensary.

Damages were estimated at $100 to the man's car and $350 to the other auto. Investigation is being continued by Officer Seese.

Mrs. Herrick, Pocono Pines Resident Dies

MRS. KATHLEEN Williams Herrick, of Pocono Pines, died yesterday morning suddenly in Montoursville.

She was born in Miners Mills, Luzerne County, daughter of the late Owen J. and Hannah Jones Williams. She had lived in Pocono Pines since 1920. Her husband, Albert E. Herrick, was formerly the owner of the Pocono Lake Telephone Co.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at a place to be announced later by William H. Clark, in charge of arrangements. Rev. Joseph Helle Jr. will officiate. Interment will be made in Pocono Pines Cemetery.

The injunction is being asked by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Lynott and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Raffo. Their properties are located on either side of the land of Mr. and Mrs. John Strehay, defendants.

The Lynotts and Raffos are represented by Arlington W. Williams and James T. Kitson. The Strehays are counselled by Forrest J. Mervine.

Yesterday's testimony was presented by the Raffos, who operate a boarding house.

The tracts are on Route 611. Running south from the Chequers, they are the Lynotts, the Strehays and the Raffos.

Plaintiffs are arguing that the neighborhood is residential in character, and it would be improper for the Strehays to complete the body and fender garage now under construction and use it for that purpose—and noise and fumes would offend their guests.

Defense counsel took the line that the neighborhood was already commercial in character.

The hearing was continued by President Judge Fred W. Davis until a date to be set later.

Learner's Car In Minor Crash

MILFORD—A husband who was teaching his wife to drive took the wheel back again after an accident five miles east of here last night.

Damages were estimated at several hundred dollars, said Milford State troopers. At the wheel was Mrs. Madeline C. Peacock, Hohenokus, N. J. Troopers said she became excited and ran off Route 6, about 5:30 p.m. There were no injuries.

YMCA Building May Be Under Roof Next Month

EXCELLENT progress is being made in the construction of the new Monroe County YMCA building in Stroudsburg, General Secretary John R. Wilson advised the board of directors last night.

If operations continue on schedule, the building is expected to be under roof next month, Wilson reported at a board meeting at Wyckoff's tearoom.

The board was also informed that remodeling of the Barrett branch at Mountainhome was completed and in full operation. Some furnishings of minor nature are all that remain to be installed, according to the report submitted by Carlton C. Chopp, youth secretary in charge.

Committees are busily engaged planning for the various projects to be carried out in the new Main St. structure, also for youth activities throughout the county.

Joseph Kovarik, chairman of the youth committee, reported having conferred with Chopp and set up a program covering the various communities.

Kovarik said it is proposed to have three Gray Y's, two Tri-Hi-Y's and one Hi-Y in Stroudsburg; a Gray-Y and a Tri-Hi-Y in East Stroudsburg; a Gray-Y, Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y and Hoshana Indians at Barrett; and Gray-Y group, movies and teenage group for the proposed Mount Pocono branch.

A total of 15 clubs is proposed in the program in which it is estimated 460 young people will participate. A total of 15 leaders will be required, Kovarik said.

Theodore Hoffman, chairman of the membership committee, outlined the policy adopted by his co-workers and other details which had been worked out. Membership will include males and females regardless of race or age. Classifications and rates will be acted on later. The board approved the policy outlined.

Thomas Kistler, personnel committee chairman, in his report brought out the fact the matter was under discussion and would be recommended shortly.

A highlight of the meeting was the report given by Mrs. Mary Scheller, who had represented the local Gradale Sorority at the National Youth and Adult Gradale conference held in July at Estes, Col.

Mrs. Scheller spoke of the many places of interest visited enroute to and from the conference. She outlined the program presented on the general theme, "The Y We Want," and the spirit of cooperation brought out during the sessions.

The World YMCA conference will be held in Paris next June and Pennsylvania will be entitled to 86 delegates. Mrs. Scheller is planning to attend the conference. Memory of George Williams, founder of the Y, will be honored. The conference met previously in Paris in 1894.

A report from Mr. Chopp told of the success of the swimming project at the Summer Day camp; Chopp and Wilson conducted games for the Aronson Co. outing held at CLU Memorial Park last month, Wilson said.

Wilson also told of the increased interest of the board members in the Barrett branch and the program carried out in which 382 young people participated.

The board approved payment of bills, certified by the architects, as follows: H. C. Archibald, heating contract, $2,484; Matt Kime, electrical, $2,637; Paul Edinger, general contractor, $21,645; and architects' fees, $525.35.

These Barrett Branch bills were also approved: Charles Frank, general contractor, $8,573.11; architects fees, $230.51 and several minor bills. The board authorized entering into a contract with the Pocono Gas Co. for furnishing gas.

Secretary Wilson informed the board that payments on pledges to the new building fund had come in very satisfactorily during August.

Roy M. Houser, treasurer, gave the report on the building fund.

Those in attendance at the meeting presided over by Holt Wyckoff, president, were: Charles A. Keiper, A. F. Everitt, Arthur Frey, Merle C. Ostrom, Charles Bensinger, Theodore Hoffman, Earl Groner, A. W. Williams, Horace Walters, A. J. Zabriskie, R. M. Houser, Clifford Gilliam, Thomas Kistler, Joseph Kovarik, Claude Peister, Dr. J. F. Noonan, H. G. Sanborn Jr., Mrs. Clifford Heller and General Secretary Wilson.

Company Expects Increased Sales

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Sales of Westinghouse Electric Corp. this year are expected to be even better than last year's record high, Gwilym A. Price, president, declared today.

Earnings for the first half of 1954 were 27 per cent above the same period in 1953, he told the New York Society of Security Analysts, adding:

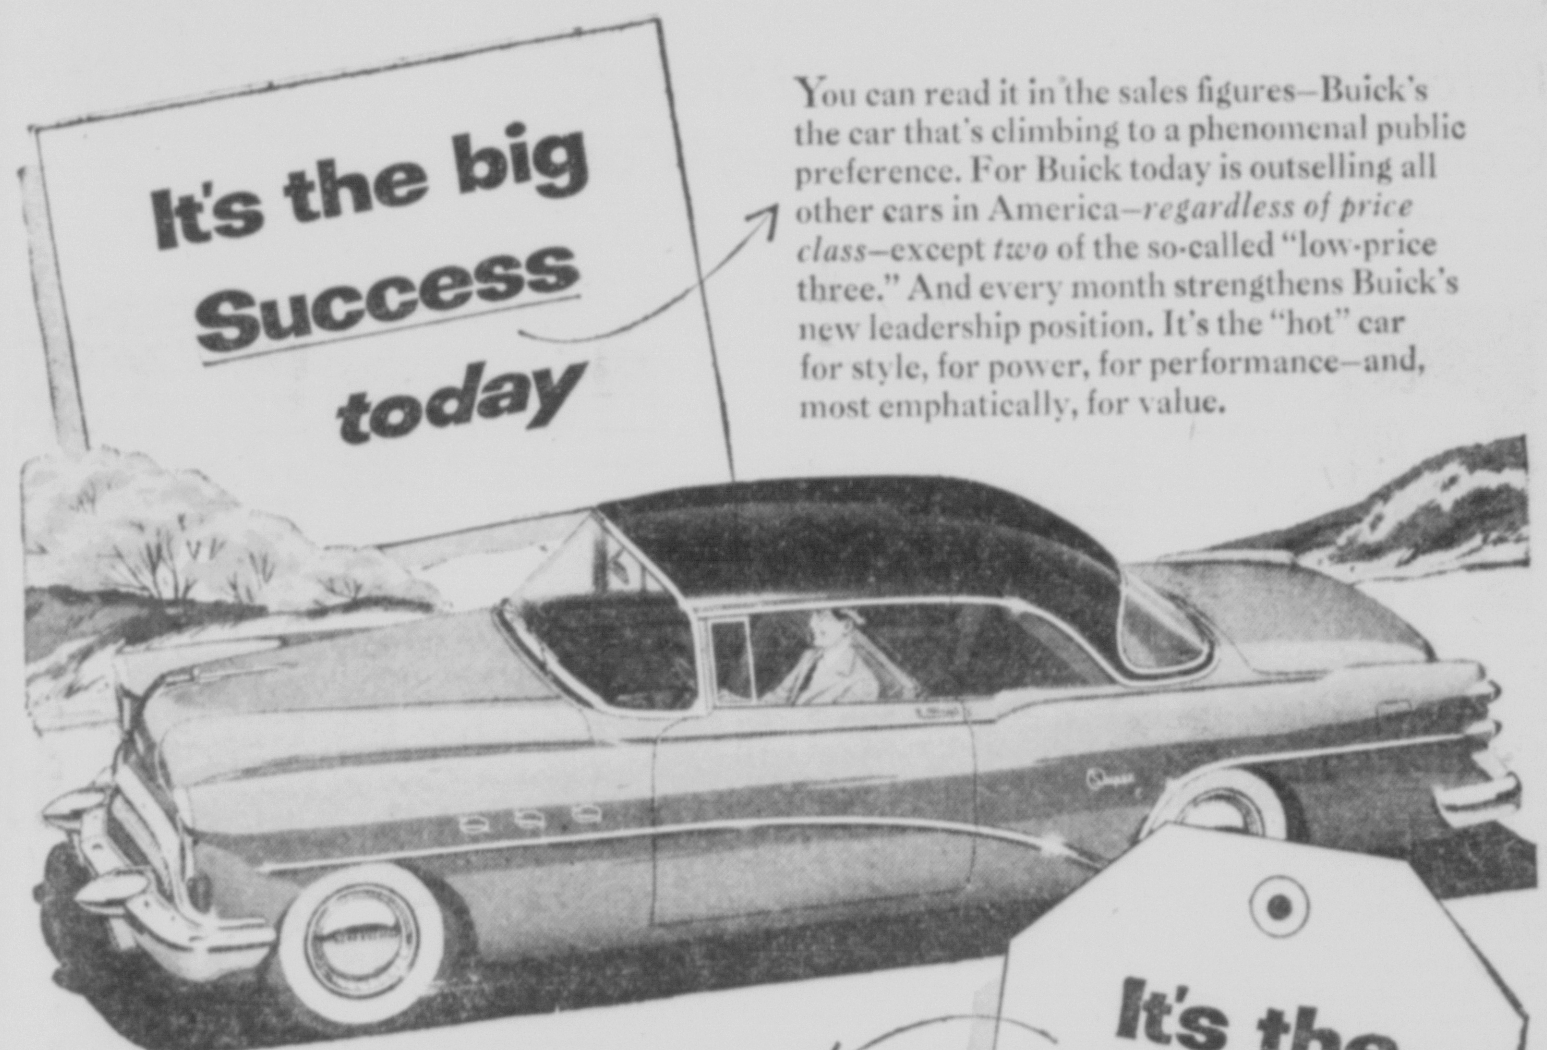

"We are still hoping that second half earnings will be as good as the first six months, even though there is the possibility of some slight contraction in billings."

Price noted that last year's sales set an all-time high for the fourth year in a row.

Any way you look at it, Buick's the buy of the year, hands down. For Buick prices start close to the lowest—just a few dollars above those of the "low-price three." But those few more dollars you pay for a Buick buy you a lot more power, room, comfort, style, ride steadiness. And get this: with our tremendous sales volume right now, we can offer you a really top allowance on your present car. That's the added bonus you get from our big volume.

It's the "High Resale" car for years from now

No Wonder—

Buick Sales are Soaring!

With Buick's year-ahead beauty today, you'll be driving a car that's right up front in the style parade of tomorrow. And when you're ready to resell your Buick, it will still be fresh and new-looking, with the modern features the others will adopt in the coming years. And that means you're bound to get a higher resale price when you do trade it in. Drop in and see this beautiful buy right now.

AF of L and Community Chest

The American Federation of Labor, founded November 15, 1881, stands as the oldest and certainly one of the most respected and responsible unionized labor groups in the nation.

Generally, since 1881 the American Federation of Labor has established a pattern of meeting its responsibilities to the nation, the states and the thousands of communities in which its membership lives and works.

That includes support to Community Chest or United Fund Campaigns. Best example of how seriously this great labor organization takes such a responsibility is found in a letter issued under the signature George Meany, president of AF of L.

Since Monroe County Central Labor Union is AF of L affiliated, Mr. Meany's letter certainly has reached that body. For the benefit of all union workers and the people who look to Community Chest agencies for aid, Mr. Meany's message to labor is repeated:

"To the Officers and International Unions, State Federations of Labor and City Central Labor Unions,
Dear Sirs and Brothers:

"Members of the American Federation of Labor are keenly aware of their responsibility in contributing to the welfare of their local communities and their nation. This year they are again ready to give full support to their Community Chest and United Fund campaigns, thereby helping to provide essential local, national, and defense services.

"The American Federation of Labor, through its own experience, has found federation to be a great source of strength. On the principles of the federation the United Defense Fund seeks support for its agencies providing defense related services through Community Chest and United Fund drives. In enlisting labor-management cooperation for its activities these organizations are applying another principle our Federation has long endorsed. This year-round labor-management cooperation has resulted in more generous giving to support the agencies' services.

"I endorse and encourage the more than 10 million members of the American Federation of Labor to continue their generous support of their Community Chest, United Campaigns and the United Defense fund.

Fraternalty yours,
George Meany
President
American Federation of Labor"

In the face of Mr. Meany's forthright endorsement of Community Chest, is it possible that Central Labor Union here will use a labor dispute involving one Chest agency to deprive 11 other agencies, including the United Defense Fund, from the continued "generous support" the AF of L president urges?

Again, we think the Central Labor Union's decision to abstain from all contributions to Community Chest is ill-advised. It can and should be promptly corrected.

Hangover Preferred

The masters of Russia have taken a little time off from conquering the world to indulge in that capitalistic, decadent, imperialistic, Wall Street custom of worrying about the younger generation.

The Soviets, according to one of their newspapers, are disturbed because many of their young people have taken to strong drink.

One explanation is that it's more comfortable to come to with a raging hangover than to wake up in Commieland.

George Sokolsky Says...

Retaliation Policy For United States Can Only Be Tested By Fighting War

Four ways are open to the United States:

1. To accept the initiative for war on the assumption that the country that strikes first will have the greatest advantage;

2. To wait until we are hit and then to retaliate in full force;

3. A continuation of conferences with object of delaying a shooting war as long as possible in the hope that something will happen—anything will happen—which will so weaken the Soviet Universal State that the necessity for war will have passed its historic moment;

4. Total isolation without any attempt at meeting the pressing international problems.

Dean Acheson adds to these a fifth possibility, namely, the maintenance of a balance of power. These are his words:

"So it became increasingly plain as our third postwar debate on foreign policy in half a century went on that the United States was, and must remain, in and of the world, and that co-existence of the victors and the maintenance of peace demand the re-creation of a balancing power of the Soviet system."

The historic error in the Acheson thesis is that he disregards the fact that the United States is the target for destruction by the Soviet Universal State. Great Britain can attempt to maintain the balance of power because it stands between the United States and Soviet Russia. As a matter of fact, Great Britain has accepted that role and thus has, in reality, become a neutral power which was fully evident at Geneva. Great Britain is assumed by Nationalist China to have prevented Formosa, the Republic of Korea and Japan from being invited to attend the Manila Conference where they rightly belonged.

The way is not open for the United States to attempt to maintain a balance of power because it is the United States which is the principal objective enemy of the Soviet world. In a word, Dean Acheson's concept fits the year 1947 but not 1954. In 1948, the Soviet Universal State was moving in the direction of consolidating its power in China and Germany and the United States was building coalition in Western Europe which became NATO and sought to build a European Defense Community by treaty. The United States has been defeated in these efforts, principally by Great Britain and France and by its own military failure in Korea.

Let us now analyze the ways that are open to this country. To take the initiative for war is offensive to American public opinion and although the President can by-pass the Constitutional authority of Congress, as President Truman did in the Korean War, it is doubtful whether President Eisenhower would do anything of the sort. Therefore, the method of retaliation is really the first one open to this country.

But the method of retaliation requires a fixed policy, a demarcation on a map of the American sphere of authority beyond which the Soviet Universal State may not move a toe without the peril of retaliation. The United States has no fixed policy. Is it the river Elbe in Europe? Is it the 17th Parallel in Indochina? Is it the 38th Parallel in Korea? Is it 12 miles off the China Coast? Is it the line of islands running from Japan, through Formosa, the Pescadores, the Philippines, to Australia and New Zealand?

The original "containment policy" of Harry Truman was initiated by the Korean and Indochina Wars although Soviet Russia moved no further in Europe except by the process of infiltration. But to Soviet Russia, infiltration is a weapon of war. The Communist Parties of France and Italy are Russian parties, directed by the Kremlin. Ruth Fischer, once one of the top leaders of the German Communist Party, in her book, "Stalin and German Communism," establishes beyond doubt the breakdown of independent National Communist Parties and their incorporation in the Russian state system as instruments of infiltration. Earl Browder was thrown out of the American Communist Party because he insisted that it be an American, not a Russian, Party.

The "containment policy" ignored infiltration as a method of war and therefore was inadequate. The "retaliation policy" comes closer to reality but can only be tested by use—and use of it would be a fighting war on a universal scale. Nevertheless, it would be a safer guide for the United States if it were clear that there is a point beyond which we shall retaliate.

Looking At Life

Jail Is Too Good For Windfall Millionaires

You must have all read about those "windfall" profits a lot of people made during the war and since then. They invested $10,000 or $15,000 and, by some clever finagling, got a profit of four or five or 10 million dollars.

It's possible that some of these fellows will go to jail for a couple of years, but when they come out they will still be millionaires—and isn't that what they wanted?

I can't say that I would want to go to prison in order to have a few million dollars. But I would like to make at least one million without having to wear stripes. Wouldn't you?

Well, I have come to the conclusion that making money—that is REAL money—requires a certain kind of talent just as painting, composing, acting, yes even writing, requires talent.

If you haven't the gift you won't ever become rich. There's no use killing yourself in the attempt, nor is there any sense trying to acquire the talent. I do not believe that you can LEARN how to become a millionaire. There have been a thousand text books written on the art of being successful. The only people who have made money out of them are the writers. I knew one fellow who turned out those books in machine-like fashion. Every one of them made him a young fortune. But he died at a little more than 50 from a nervous breakdown. He didn't take a cent of his money with him. But he WAS buried in a very expensive coffin.

Very few of the millionaires I know—and as a newspaperman I know quite a few (just a speaking acquaintance, mind you, not a borrowing one)—have ever been able to tell me how they became millionaires. They just attended to their business, they say, and there it was.

I, on the other hand, and a number of other people I know, have busted our heads trying to make a cleanup, but whenever I started on some great scheme which was bound to be successful, there I was—broke.

The main reason, I believe, is that I never paid as much attention to whatever proposition I went into as to the money that was to be made out of it. On the other hand, I HAVE seen fellows to whom MONEY was their merchandise. They made it thinking of nothing BUT the money they were going to get out of it.

Their hearts were as cold as stone. Human beings were there to be shaken down. To them a man was like a sack. You turned him upside down and out came all the money he had in his pockets. They didn't care how much misery they caused. The money was all that counted. I believe the "windfall" millionaires are like that and, in my opinion, jail is just a little too good for them.

If you belong to the same classification as I do, the "non-millionaire" one, you might just as well be satisfied with what you are, what you have, and what you are able to make.

I would hate to spend some of the sleepless worry-nights those fellows with the millions spend when they get their subpoenas from the Internal Revenue people or a Senate investigating committee.

I bet they feel so ice cold that not even their wives' sable coats can keep them warm, and even the fattest bank book can be a mighty hard pillow!

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Munro Leaf, author of the immortal "Ferdinand the Bull," was driving his car across the country, and made it a practice to stop for chow at railroad inns where big trucks were parked in front. "Those truck drivers," he told his wife, "know these roads in their sleep—and they're leashed by experience where the best eats are to be found." Once, however, the lead proved false. Despite the presence of four monster trucks in the parking space, the food served inside was virtually inedible. A waitress noticed Leaf's discomfort. "I know what's bothering you," she whispered. "The boss bought those old trucks at a salvage sale. He figures they bring in more customers than an electric sign. There aren't even any motors in them!"

Next time you bowl with laughter at a friend's discomfort, remember what Will Rogers once pointed out: Everything is very funny—as long as it happens to somebody else!

The neap tides are low tides that occur in the beginning of the second and fourth quarters of the moon.

An automobile battery has just 65 per cent as much starting power at 32 degrees as it does at 80 degrees.

Illinois Trend Seems To Be On Republican Trend

ALLEN ILLINOIS WED BISBIN

Robert S. Allen is on vacation. During his absence, his column today is written by one of the outstanding editors of Illinois, who analyzes the tense and crucial senatorial contest in that state. The outcome of this race, involving the seat of Democratic Senator Paul Douglas, may determine who will control the Senate in the Six Congress.

By Edward Lindsay

Editor, Lindsay-Schaub Newspapers
Decatur, Ill., September 14—Illinois' Senate race this fall must be considered against the background of the state's highly volatile voting behavior in national elections.

Democratic Senator Paul Douglas was elected six years ago with a plurality of 407,000 votes. Governor Adlai Stevenson got a plurality of 572,000 in the same election. Four years later, President Dwight Eisenhower came up in Illinois with a plurality of 443,000 against the same Governor Stevenson, then a presidential candidate.

Illinois voters have learned to scratch their ballots. During the long period when they supported the Roosevelt Administration nationally, most of the down state counties elected Republicans to local offices. And during eight years—1940-48—Illinois had a Republican governor and a Republican General Assembly. In addition, half of the state votes are in the normally Democratic Cook County (Chicago) and half are in the normally Republican downstate area.

The trend in Illinois now appears to be toward the Republican side.

Politically astute Governor William G. Stratton is attempting to rebuild the Republican party in both the downstate and the Cook County areas. The Democratic organization is handicapped by having neither federal nor state patronage. Governor Stratton has enhanced Republican appeal in Chicago by his successful sponsorship of a constitutional amendment, to be voted upon in the November 2 election, which will give control of the lower house in the General Assembly to Cook County.

Joseph T. Meek was nominated last spring in a ten-man Senate race by one-third of the Republican voters in that election. He is making a campaign of questionable appeal in a doubtful state with a scratched ballot tradition.

Mr. Meek was long president of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations. He has spoken to retail groups at every crossroads town in Illinois. He is personally acquainted with many members of the Illinois General Assembly and regards himself as a close friend of Senator Everett Dirksen. Out of these associations, Mr. Meek has developed a political philosophy that appeals to the extreme right wing elements of the Republican party.

Mr. Meek's appeal to this group by characterizing himself as a "no label" Republican and his blanket opposition to all legislative enactments since 1932—Including price supports of farm products, agricultural credits, social security, veterans' benefits, public housing, stimulated war armaments production on a large scale—were useful to him in developing hard-core support in the primary.

Since the primary, continued speeches in this pattern have brought cries of anguish and puzzlement from some of his supporters. The Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph, which supported him in the primary, reminded him: "It's our firm belief that every member of the Senate and the House voted for some of these measures, and certainly many of them not only were supported but originated by the late Robert A. Taft."

Senator Douglas got bipartisan support in 1946. His almost single-handed effort to balance the budget during the Truman Administration won widespread commendation for him among Republican business leaders in Illinois. How much of this he has lost is difficult to measure.

He recently was criticized by the Chicago Daily News for failure to vote for the atomic energy bill after it had been amended to permit development of atomic energy power plants. Some independent voters, who support President Eisenhower and have been alarmed by Meek's speeches have felt that Senator Douglas should have voted for the tax bill after the Democratic amendment had failed and the bill was up for final passage.

Senator Douglas' greatest appeal to Republican and independent voters will be in the foreign policy field, where he has supported the Eisenhower legislation at least as well as has Senator Dirksen and a great deal more than Mr. Meek has indicated that he would.

Senator Douglas has always had and continues to have the almost solid support of labor. As of today, it appears that Senator Douglas will be overwhelmingly supported by independent voters in Illinois. The unpardonable in this respect is the effect of President Eisenhower as a supporter of candidate Meek. On July 27, after an exchange of letters, the President said he would be glad to welcome Meek "as the junior Senator from Illinois."

So far, most Illinois independents feel they know Mr. Meek from his speeches better than the President knows him from his letter, and that the speeches indicate he would not support Eisenhower's middle-of-the-road policies.

How far the President will go in attempting to persuade Illinois voters that Mr. Meek would be more useful to him than Senator Douglas, and how much the independent voters of the State will believe him if he does, are questions that only time can answer.

Poconos Attract Sailors

—by H. G. Heller

Every once in awhile you hear a discussion about the competition given the Pocono Mountains resort region by seashore resort areas.

There's usually one answer given to such competition and that's "more advertising and more publicity."

That's all to the good, but there are two groups now operating in the Poconos with considerable success in stealing the thunder of the shore resorts with great spectator water sports.

One is the Naomi Lake Sailing Association and the other is the Pocono Motor Boat Club.

Last week-end Naomi Lake Sailing Association had their annual and final regatta of the vacation sailing season.

There were 24 Duster Class sail boats, one of the popular boats in the sailing class seen by the scores on the bays, inlets and along the Atlantic Coast line in the East.

Germ for the Naomi Sailing Association was set up some years ago with E. Rodger Miller, now commodore of the Naomi group. Bill Persons and many others setting sail on Naomi Lake in the Duster Class sailers. These boats are small enough to be easily transported and large enough for a captain and one crewman.

What happens when Naomi Sailing Association runs a "regatta"? Scores of Duster Class boatsmen load their boats and desert the seashore. They head for the beautiful Pocono Mountains and one of its jewel-like lakes.

What happens when there's an outboard motorboat regatta anywhere within driving distance? The lads and gals load their boats and motors on a trailer and head for the river or lake to join in something they thoroughly enjoy, whether there's competition or not. Ask Sam Miller, head of the Pocono Motor Boat Club how happy these enthusiasts of outboard motor boating are to travel any reasonable distance to compete.

Ask Rodger Miller how the sailing enthusiasts feel about doing the same thing.

While both these boating groups are far apart in type, they are so much alike in the enthusiasm of their respective addiction for their class of water sport that they've gone along without too much promotion other than that they made themselves.

It seems to us that here's a great opportunity for the resort interests here to do a little promotion which is certain to knock a big edge off any seashore resort competition which may exist.

Might be a good idea to set up plans for just that sort of thing next season.

N.Y. Confidential —by Lee Mortimer

From time to time this department regales the customers with tales about former glitzy gals who made good in various walks of life including show business, the arts and wedlock, both in and out of.

It is, however, a well-known fact that when one constantly writes or talks about what are euphemistically known as "the good old days" it is a clinical indication of what Joe McCarthy called Flanders.

That such shall not be said about me, I occasionally vary the series with essays about contemporary pigeons. This makes it incumbent on me to discover and nurture a certain amount of raw product. It is fun if you are not what McCarthy called Flanders.

One of the seedlings set out last year was Gita Hall, 26, a red head, who was Miss Stockholm in 1951 and the boys have never gotten over it since. I first observed her at John Perona's elegant El Morocco shortly after she got off the boat, which is where the gal who wants to be "The Squab of the Year Most Likely to Succeed" heads for first.

If she passes the approval of the deadpan lipos who congregate at Morocco's famed Table Round, she is in.

Gita did not anticipate much trouble. She was the cat's pajamas (which is an expression they still use in Sweden) in Stockholm, worked in movies, danced in ballet and was the teen-age toast of the town. But Sweden is a small country with limited wolves and wealth and there wasn't enough of either to go around for a quail with an expensive appetite.

Just as American cuties first hitchhike to the nearest big town as Chicago, New Orleans or Dallas, if you can call a cross-patch a town, and then come on to New York, foreign beauts head for Paris. Gita stopped there a year to model for the faded Pierre Balmain and appeared in fashion shows all over Europe as his premiere mannequin.

New York, however, was not the push-over it usually is. It took her no time to find out why. She weighed 135 pounds for her five-foot-eight-and-a-half-inch frame. That was just right for the continent, where flesh is popular. In this country she was told "Americans like their girls slimy."

A babe will do anything for a nod, so Gita skammed off 15 pounds pronto. Well, it was just like those reducing ads. Over night she became one of the highest paid models here which also meant she became one of the most sought after dates.

Last year when I gave Gita her first American story, I asked her about romances. Most career girls say they have none. She was no exception. She said she wasn't interested in boys. But the boys certainly were interested in her. I remember writing at the time, And the old men, too. (Down, Mortimer!)

In order to avoid serious entanglements (at least that's what she says) Gita doesn't date the same guy twice running. She loves to dance. By distributing her dancing favors broadly she figures she keeps the male population more contented than if she went out with one character steady.

Among those the gossip columnists lusted her with during her 18 months in America are most of the eligible (whatever that means) bachelors here and in Hollywood, including some not so eligible. Many have married since.

Gulf announces a completely new and different gasoline!

► Now—Gulf refines out the “dirty-burning tail-end” of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. Result:

a cleaner-burning super-fuel that gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power...free from knock or pre-ignition.

Proof:

Instead of trying to fight troublemaking deposits with so-called “miracle-additives”—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place.
That's why Gulf, in making new Super-Refined

NO-NOX, refines out the carbon-forming, “dirty-burning tail-end”—more than a cupful in every gallon. Just look at the plates the Gulf scientist is holding in the unretouched photo above and see what a difference Gulf super refining makes!

Starting with your first tankful, this new, super-refined, super-powered fuel will give you these immediate and lasting benefits:

- More complete engine protection than so-called “miracle-additive” gasolines. Why? Because Gulf refines out the “dirty-burning tail-end” of gasoline, the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines—and then treats this new Super-Refined NO-NOX to give it a complete range of protective properties. It protects every part it touches against harmful deposits—carbon, rust, gum.
- Extra gas mileage. Why? Because new NO-NOX is specially blended for the short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most.
- No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's super-compression engines. Why? Because the anti-knock power of new Gulf NO-NOX has been stepped up to an all-time high.
- Stall-proof smoothness—no more worries about carburetor icing in chilly weather, or vapor lock on warm days. Instant starts, too—and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

Road tests show: New Gulf No-Nox actually makes cars perform better than new...even after 15,000 miles!

TRUE! Under all conditions—Gulf test cars showed: Higher-than-new horsepower! Better-than-new on gasoline mileage! And not a single trace of carbon knock or pre-ignition at any time, even on the steepest mountain grades!

COMPLETELY NEW! SUPER-REFINED
New Gulf No-Nox

Sen. Miller, Republican, Backs Leader

HARRISBURG, Sept. 14 (AP) — State Sen. John Carl Miller (R-Bever) today endorsed State Sen. George M. Leader, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, in a publication of his own party.

Miller, a 34-year-old steelworker who describes himself as a lifelong Republican, said his decision came about because of the "disastrous leadership" of the Republican party by Gov. John S. Fine.

"I have been hoping for several years that the Republican party in Pennsylvania would follow more liberal policies instead of the archaic policies of the Grundy leadership," he said.

He referred to former U. S. Sen. Joseph R. Grundy, a longtime leader in the Republican party and founder of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn.

Miller, whose first four year term as state senator representing Beaver and Lawrence counties still has two years to run, was defeated in the May 18 primary fight in a bid for the Republican nomination for Congress. Rep. Louis Graham turned back Miller's challenge.

The Republican State Committee declined comment on the Miller development. A spokesman said: "I doubt if we'll have any comment. He was sort of a maverick at that."

Miller had opposed many Republican sponsored measures in both the House and Senate. He was one of the few Republicans who opposed the 1/2 of one per cent income tax bill defeated in 1931.

Miller first came to the Legislature as a member of the State House of Representatives in 1930. Two years later he defeated incumbent Sen. Samuel G. Neff (D-Lawrence) for the Senate seat.

The young steelworker is the first prominent Republican to repudiate his party in the current general election campaign.

Miller singled out what he termed the "atrocious political mismanagement" by the Fine administration. He said he could not "in all conscience and sincerity" support a Republican ticket which "so blatantly bespeaks the odious and reactionary policies of the discredited Grundy machine."

U. S. Sen. James H. Duff, when governor, started out toward "liberalizing" the Republican party, Miller said, adding:

"If (the GOP) has reverted to the control of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn. under his successor, Governor Fine. There has been no indication that the next administration, if it is Republican, will change this grievous situation."

The statement was released by the Democratic State Committee after Miller conferred with George N. Pennington, director of Democratic campaign publicity.

Fairless Sees Prosperity In Peacetime

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 14 (AP) — This has been a time of great opportunity for America to prove that it doesn't need war for prosperity, Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corp., said tonight.

In a speech at the Pennsylvania Electric Association's 47th annual meeting, Fairless said: "Now that we have peace, it is easy as that peace may be — we are continuously adjusting our operations to an economy based more heavily on civilian needs."

"There are those who told that this would mean a depression. Some used the milder term 'recession'. But we chose a different word — and a mental attitude to match it."

Fairless said the word is "opportunity" whereby America can show it doesn't need war for economic well-being and that private enterprise — minus "big government" — can prove it is the only formula for economic health.

PP&L Crews On Hurricane Duty In Boston

CLOSE TO 300 PP&L linemen, representing 20 line crews, were on the job in Boston yesterday in the wake of hurricanes Carol and Edna in an endeavor to restore electric service to that storm-ravaged area, according to an announcement by Charles E. Oakes, PP&L president.

The crews, complete with line trucks and equipment, were assembled from all parts of the local utility's service area and represent both its construction and operating departments. They started moving toward Boston Saturday night. Immediately after arrival in the Massachusetts city, they bent to the task of restoring to operation the facilities of Boston Edison Co., more than half of whose substation circuits had been knocked out by the hard-hitting tropical storms.

All PP&L crews are under the supervision of a general foreman and two distribution engineers, who are surveying storm damage and guiding PP&L crews to the quickest method of restoring service. All PP&L personnel is expected to be in the Boston area for several days.

Mr. Oakes explained that the job of patching up a storm-ravaged area is at first only temporary in nature so that service can be restored as quickly as possible. Permanent repairs are made after all customers are again in service.

Hurricane Edna played havoc with the temporary repairs to damage wrought by Hurricane Carol in the New England region, while inflicting damaging blows of its own. After the 1948 sleek storm struck the area with similarly disastrous effects, he explained, it took PP&L more than seven months to make permanent repairs although service was restored in a matter of days.

Toll Station Men To Work 42-Hour Week

HARRISBURG, Sept. 14 (AP) — The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission will inaugurate a 42-hour work week for its toll collectors beginning Saturday. Some collectors have been working 44 and some 42 hours.

Chairman T. J. Evans approved the plan after a request for a shorter work week with uniform hours for all toll station men on the Pennsylvania Turnpike was made by an association of collectors.

John K. Kilko, president of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Officer-Collectors Assn., said he had been notified of the change by the commission, but that his group wants a 40-hour week.

Association representatives will meet with commission members next Tuesday and Wednesday to discuss other requests pertaining to wages and working conditions made by the association.

The other requests include a 10 per cent salary increase for experienced collectors, pay in money instead of time off for collectors filling in when other men are ill, and consideration of the possibility of obtaining Social Security benefits for collectors.

Kilko denied that he was using company time to organize the toll collectors for his association. The charge had been made by Robert A. Callahan, international representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

"I traveled on my own time—on my vacation—and expenses were handled by our association," Kilko told a newsmen.

Both the association and Callahan's AFL union claim a majority of the toll collectors are members of their respective organizations.

Before baby sits alone, how careful you mothers are of the wobbly little back... soft bones are stiffening, growing stronger each day.

To help that back and all the bones to grow strong, you must be careful of the diet, too. During the bone-forming period, until about fourteen, an adequate supply of Vitamin D is very necessary, since it helps the body utilize calcium and phosphorus, and the bone-building minerals.

British Plan Omits Two Key EDC Features

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

The new British plan for a European defense arrangement including West Germany contains many of the features of the dead European Defense Community but omits the two chief ones—supranational control and a unified army.

In a way, international control would be maintained through the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on arms allotments and the size of armies, but gone is the great feature of a European political community governing both a European army and the already-functioning though wobbly European Coal and Steel Community.

This supranational feature was one thing that made Britain feel she could not associate herself more closely with EDC, and that made France finally kill it.

If France accepts the new proposal—for inclusion of Germany and Italy in the Brussels pact, which would be more along the lines of old-fashioned military treaties—she will in effect have decided that she prefers a Germany rearmed under certain limitations to loss of sovereign control over her own army.

The Eden plan is in the very early stages of discussion, but primarily it promises to set up a logistical merger as against a merger of men. The various European armies would use the same weapons and pursue a common training and supply program, with Italy and Germany coming under NATO command as the others already do.

The chief feature of the arrangement from the French standpoint is that Germany would be brought into an organization in which Britain is tightly involved. The Brussels pact provides that each member shall go automatically to the aid of any attacked partner. Formed in 1948 before the German rearmament question became so pressing, the pact also has clauses providing for cultural and economic cooperation which have never meant anything.

The United States is taking no position on the new proposal at the moment. First reaction seems to be that getting Germany rearmed is more important than how it is done, although there is still great disappointment over the setback to the idea of a European community.

Aside from the French attitude, which remains to be revealed after Eden has conferred in Paris, one of the chief questions is whether Germany will accept some limitations on her rearmament. French rejection of EDC put the Bonn government in an extremely painful position on this, and is blamed for its poor showing in this week's Schleswig-Holstein elections.

Germany is not likely to accept anything less than full sovereignty, putting her in position to negotiate any arms limitations rather than have them imposed by her former enemies.

JAMES HOWARD and Michael Martin were ushers at the morning service Sunday in the Presbyterian church. John Gray and Henry Harris handled the bulletins. It was the last Sunday for the summer organist, Clarence Seaman, who returns to Philadelphia this week. Words of commendation of his service were spoken by Rev. Luther Markin. The congregation was saddened by announcement of the death of Richard Maxwell—the John of the Seth Parker radio programs—who had expected to become a member of the church in the near future. Flowers were placed in the church by Mr. and Mrs. George Hauser in honor of the memory of Mrs. Joseph Newhart.

Mrs. Ned Cyphers, Mrs. Thomas Brodhead and Mrs. Arthur Lehr attended the Democratic Women's Club meeting, Wednesday night, at the Club Court home of Mrs. Harold Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Carlton, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Myra Edwards, of South Sterling, spent Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carlton. Earl Carlton is a brother of Mrs. Edwards and Oscar Carlton.

Nine buds are forming on the night blooming cereus plant belonging to Frank Howard. These buds were not in time to honor Mr. Howard's birthday, but were to be a magnificent sight when opened.

Miss A. D. Frederick, of Stroudsburg, was a guest Thursday of Mrs. Inga Brown and Miss Nellie Burd.

Mrs. Bryden Taylor, of Stroudsburg, visited her mother, Mrs. H. W. Brodhead, Saturday and Sunday, and returned Thursday for an over-night visit.

The Centennial Planning meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elam Grey Tuesday night. Responses have been received from all the former pastors of the Presbyterian church with gracious messages to former charges.

Noble Gilpin, astecher of music at Sweet Briar College, called on Mrs. H. W. Brodhead Saturday on his way to college from his home in Sterling.

Unusual Film To Be Shown At Mt. Pocono

THE COLOR FILM on "The Pennsylvania Dutch" to be shown on Saturday night at the Mount Pocono Methodist Church, has an unusual background and has been shown to capacity audiences ever since it was completed in 1950. They were filmed by Charles and Carrye Noss of York, Pa.

The mass attraction is explained by the fact that these are the only pictures ever filmed of members of the Amish sect. Strict religious rules from on motion pictures and only after two and a half years of cultivating friendships and confidence among the Amish were the Nosses permitted to make the pictures.

Mr. Noss has refused opportunities to commercialize their work. All expense is handled by Charles Noss himself, and the only payment is the pleasure of showing and narrating the films. Proceeds from the showing are for the benefit of the church building fund.

The film which runs an hour and a half has as its theme life among the farmers in Lancaster and York counties. The picture opens with the white and red roses symbolizing the White and Red Cross Counties. It shows pretzel making, wheat harvesting and other farming scenes.

Gaye Jordan's Performance Outstanding In 'Sabrina Fair' At Pocono Playhouse

By Leonard Randolph

MOUNTAINHOME—Life among the very rich is a favorite playground for playwrights. Add a dash of Cinderella, a flash of wit and a sprinkle of bitters, stir well and you have "Sabrina Fair."

This tall, cool, commercial concoction is now being served at Pocono Playhouse. Despite Samuel Taylor's curiously old-fashioned script, "Sabrina" is one of the most refreshing theatrical draughts of the season.

Credit for the play's charm belongs to director John O'Shaughnessy, an ingratiating cast and a girl named Gaye Jordan whose performance as "Sabrina" is an absolute delight.

"Sabrina's" story is fairly shopworn. It's about a "poor" girl, daughter of a chauffeur who has been employed by the Larabee family. The Larabees, Linus Sr. and Linus Jr., are shipping magnates.

Young Sabrina grew up with the Larabee boys, Linus and David; is remembered by all hands as a tomboyish type who was always climbing trees. When the play opens she is on her way home from Paris after five years in the land of the sophisticated where tree-climbing is never frowned upon—but there are better things to do with one's time.

Sabrina, as you may have guessed, turns out to be quite another animal. Chic, worldly and beautiful she is still uncertain of her own goal in life. She has come home to find herself, bringing her problems with her.

In Paris, it develops, there is a billionaire who wishes to carry her away to Burgundy as his lawful wife. By the end of the second act Sabrina is choosing between the Frenchman and David, the younger Larabee. It should come as no surprise to you that the loving cup in this little harness race goes to neither.

This, obviously, is a kind of modern fantasy tale. To keep its story from sounding like soap opera the play needs actors of fine and enduring talent. It has plenty of them this week at the Playhouse.

Margaret Bannerman is excellent as "Aunt Julia", the wise-cracking family friend whose pungent comments spark the play every moment she's on stage. G. Albert Smith makes something bumbling and believable out of his characterization of old man Larabee, a stodgy remnant from another era.

Liam Sullivan makes "David" a convincing, quietly charming young man whose life and mind show the perpetual thumbprints of his mother. The latter role is played by Virginia Brian who took over the role on very short notice. Miss Brian has played the part in the New York production and her interpretation is quite good.

Ed Whitner, who plays the chauffeur-father, has one wonderful scene and he makes the most of it. Other minor roles are played very well by Dorrit Kelton, Otis Bigelow (as the Frenchman), Nancy Sheering, Clark Warren, Maureen Hayes, Leslie Paul and Scott Williams.

Logan Field plays Linus Larabee Jr. and his characterization is fine. Field has an unfortunate habit of speaking his lines with a rather unnatural inflection which detracts from his overall performance, however.

Now for Miss Jordan who is, I should imagine, one of the most enchanting young ladies of our generation. Her performance is a radiant thing, marked by simplicity, graceful movement and love of life; her voice is magic itself, warm and intimate, full-throated and musical. She is, to my way of thinking, the most perfect "Sabrina" imaginable.

Ballou's set for this play is a triumph. He has outdone himself in building a realistic, solid and brilliantly atmospheric outdoor patio, surrounded—like the elder Larabees—on all sides by the protection of high walls.

Thanks to O'Shaughnessy's direction, Miss Jordan's performance and those of the others in the cast, "Sabrina Fair"—whose author has given us nothing much—is something very special all the way through.

Monroe County Dentists Form Association

SCIOTA—Dentists in the Pocono Mountains region, meeting at Linden Court here last night, organized the Monroe County Dental Society.

Dr. Elton Denning, Stroudsburg was elected president; Dr. Sidney Cohen, vice president and Dr. David G. Peilly, secretary-treasurer.

Dentists in this region have been affiliated with branches of the state and American societies in the Lehigh Valley and Wilkes-Barre regions. Spokesmen said they intended to retain those affiliations, but have set up the local group—which will remain non-affiliated with state and national groups—to handle "strictly local matters."

Dr. A. J. Harlacher, Dr. Seymour Pollan, both East Stroudsburg were named to set up a constitution and by-laws.

These are to be presented for review at a meeting Oct. 12.

Other dentists present were Dr. W. E. Magann, Dr. Robert Arner, Dr. L. T. Powers, Dr. H. C. Cryder, Dr. Walter B. Fitzgerald. Unable to attend, but members of the local group are Dr. T. B. Mullen and Dr. Kurt Philipsberg.

Connecticut's violent death rate is an annual 44 per 100,000 compared to 58 per 100,000 for the nation.

The Daily Record's Home And Building Page

Latest Home Designs To Be Displayed

HOME OWNERS as well as people planning to build or buy a house will have opportunities to see many of the latest ideas in design, construction and equipment of homes between Sept. 19 and Sept. 26, which will be National Home Week.

Builders and lumber dealers in more than 100 metropolitan areas are preparing community-wide programs for that week to give the public a chance to see "tomorrow's homes today." Considering the trends that have been developing recently, that slogan will prove to have more substance than mere words.

More bedrooms, fewer basements, a wide spread increase in year-round air conditioning, better lighting both from windows and from electrical installations are among some of the features you can expect to find in more than 10,000 model homes to be on exhibit across the country.

Price-wise you'll find more homes in the $10,000 to $15,000 classification than in any other bracket. Leonard Haeger, director of the Research Institute of the National Assn. of Home Builders, keeps a close check on all of these trends. He tells us that 43 per cent of the homes to be shown will be under $10,000; 48 per cent will be between $10,000 and $15,000 and only 9 per cent will be priced above $15,000.

"Trends do not move swiftly in houses," Haeger said, "but many trends in the last 10 or 15 years have brought substantial changes in the manner and convenience of living for the average family."

"Kitchens have opened up and have better equipment, vastly lightening women's work in the area. Smaller cut-uprooms have been replaced by more open areas. Indoor-outdoor living has been created by the use of window walls and development of living areas in the yard. Bathrooms are far more convenient and attractive. Better use has been made of closet and storage space. Houses have tended to become lower and more spread out."

Haeger admits that an increase in the number of rooms has been in the making for some time. Couples who moved into very small houses after World War II are now raising families and need more space. So the average house shown during National Home Week is apt to have three or more bedrooms.

Also noticeable is a trend away from basements, he says. Following V-J day, there was a distinct movement toward houses built on slabs. A few years ago that trend slowed down. Now the slab-type house seems to be forging ahead as a favorite.

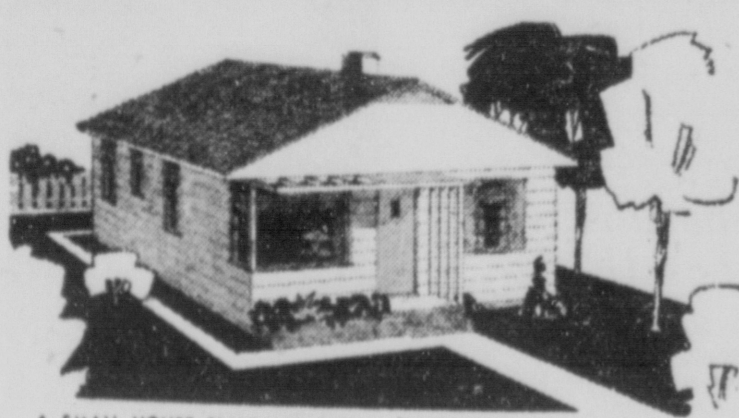

What's the idea of National Home Week? We asked Edward G. Gavin, the man who originated it seven years ago. Gavin is the editor of the American Builder, trade publication for light construction. He got the President to designate the week and now its direction has been taken over by the National Assn. of Home Builders.

"Is it just to set up a campaign for a high concentration of sales in a given week in September?" White-haired, ruddy-faced Ed Gavin chuckled.

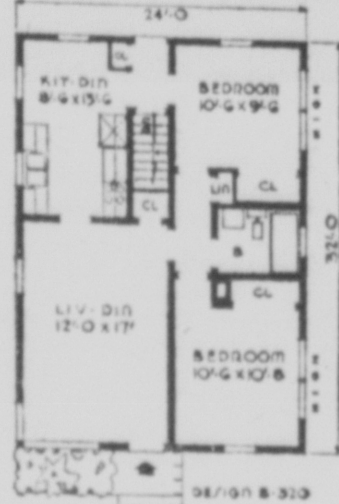

"Any builder can do that for himself at any time of the year and with the benefit of National Home Week," he replied.

"The real objective is to show the public by actual demonstration that home ownership is within reach of practically every American family; that children reared in their own homes are armed with self-respect and are much more likely to grow up to be sound, law-abiding citizens."

Gavin says more than 10 million persons will inspect the 10,000 houses on view; and he ought to know. He has been keeping checks on these special weeks since 1947.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-320

DESIGN B-320. An ideal plan for a small lot where space does not permit a front drive-in and where deliveries are made from the rear.

There is a full basement, living room, combination kitchen-dinette, two bedrooms and bath. Closet space consists of two coat closets, linen cabinet in the hall and wardrobe closets in the bedrooms.

A connecting door between kitchen and rear bedroom is convenient when using the room as workshop or nursery.

Floor area is 768 sq. ft. and cubage is 14,592 cu. ft. Exterior finish is siding with planter, picture window and covered entrance.

For further information about DESIGN B-320, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

Garage Provides Excellent Place To Store Equipment

PROSPECTIVE home builders or buyers should keep in mind that they will need storage space for equipment used in the maintenance of the house and grounds. This can be provided in the garage.

The storage problem was virtually non-existent in the days when houses were built over full basements, but many modern homes have no basements or only partial basements to accommodate heating plants and hot water tanks.

Actually, basement storage space is the most economical in cost per cubic foot. When there is no basement, however, facilities for storage must be provided at ground level. Designed and constructed with this purpose in mind, the garage makes an excellent utility building in addition to providing a shelter for the automobile.

For uniformity of appearance, the exterior of the garage should match the exterior of the house. This is a rule of design for an attached garage and for any separate garage close enough to the dwelling so that both buildings are seen at the same time.

Color harmony is especially important. In nearly all cases, the roof is the largest single unbroken area of a building and the key factor in its exterior appearance.

Making Shingles Tight

TO INCREASE the wind-resistance of asphalt shingles, shingle tabs can be cemented down with quick-setting asphalt cement. This is recommended for roofs in exposed locations where high winds are frequent.

Good Wall Finish

ENAMEL makes good wall finish for both kitchens and bathrooms. Its smooth surfaces discourage dirt and grease, and it can be cleaned easily. Non-washable paints should never be used in these two rooms.

with the American Builder awarding prizes for the best community efforts. Churches, PTA's, women's clubs and various civic organizations pitch in with the builders to put on shows.

Well, it ought to be quite a show this year with FHA credit relaxed. In Glendale, Calif., a large home with swimming pool will be the big attraction. The Quakertown, N.J., exhibit will feature a $30,000 model home which will be given to a nearby medical center after the show. And one of the houses in Evansville, Ind., was designed by a high school student.

Steel for the famous Damascus blades of the ancient world was made in India.

How To Give Wood That Satin Finish

A DULL or satin finish on varnish or enamel is obtained by removing the natural gloss with pumice stone and water or oil after the last coat has become dry and hard. To permit this, three to eight days should be allowed to elapse. Rubbing is done with a thick felt, dipped in water or oil, then in finely ground pumice stone.

When oil is used, it may be a light grade of motor oil, raw linseed oil and benzine, or paraffin oil. Rub lightly over the surface, being especially careful on the edges and corners not to rub through. Mouldings and carved surfaces may be rubbed with a short stiff brush instead of the rubbing felt. Wash off the pumice with clear water and wipe dry with a clean cloth. Corners and angles must be cleaned out with an orange stick or something similar.

Emergency Measure

A CRACKED pane of glass can be temporarily weatherproofed with a coat of fresh, white shellac on the inside. Vision will not be obstructed by the shellac coat. Brezees and rain will be kept out until the pane is replaced.

Cleaning Paint Brush

IF YOU have trouble removing the paint from the base of the bristles on a paint brush, try using an old fork or, even better, a metal comb.

Don't Mix Too Much

WHEN a masonry job is in progress around the house, it's advisable not to mix more cement mortar at a time that can be used in half an hour. Otherwise it may start to set before it can be used.

WIL-BOND before Repainting

A glossy varnished or enameled surface should be cleaned and dulled before repainting. It's easy with WIL-BOND. Just dampen a rag with this liquid and rub down the surface. Off come wax, grease and dirt—and the gloss is thoroughly dulled. The new finish spreads smoothly and adheres perfectly—no danger of a streaky, unsightly result.

Find Number Of Tiles Room Needs

HERE'S AN easy way to determine how many tiles are needed for a given size room when installing asphalt tile or rubber tile floor.

Get the square footage of the room by measuring length and width. Then double the square footage and subtract 10 per cent. That gives the number of tiles needed.

This is based on the fact that a standard 9x9-inch tile is 9/16 of a square foot.

Thus if the room is 9 x 12 feet, it has 108 square feet. Twice 108 equals 216. Take 10 per cent of 216. That gives 21.6, or in round numbers 22. Subtract 22 from 216, leaving 194. This is the approximate number of tiles needed for a 9x12 foot room.

Full-Size Bath

IF YOU'RE planning to move, try to select a new home with a bathtub long enough to accommodate even the giant of your family.

There's no fun or pleasure in having to double up in a tub that's too short for comfort. The daily sudsy bath is for relaxation as well as for cleanliness.

Arrange Door Locations To Avoid Waste

IN THE designing of small homes the location and number of doors are important, since the arc of the swing is wasted area.

Where there are too many doors, the owner is likely to be confronted with a serious problem of furniture placement. It should also be remembered that the more doors a room contains, the more through traffic it will have.

Wherever possible, doors should be located in corners so they will swing through an arc of only 90 degrees and thus use a minimum of floor area.

The location of doors in a small house is even more important when living space must be used as a passageway, according to officials of the Federal Housing Administration.

For convenient passage, space must be free of furniture. When doors leading to rooms between which there is frequent communication are placed diagonally opposite, the location of furniture is made difficult.

'Dragnet' Opens At Grand Today

FOLLOWERS OF Jack Webb's "Dragnet" will have a chance, beginning today, to see their dark-haired, low-speaking hero on the wide screen at the Grand Theater in a new full-length color production of the famed television show.

The movie is a story of the police department's super-secret intelligence division in a case which is said to be entirely new and different. Webb plays the role of Sgt. Joe Friday. The part of Friday's doughty sidekick, Officer Frank Smith, is taken by Ben Alexander.

Mrs. Butler President Of Ann Logans

Mrs. Horace A. Butler, first vice president of the Ann Logan Hospital Society, was unanimously elected as president to fill the vacancy left when Mrs. Max Stadfeld moved away with her family. The meeting was held at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on Monday night, with Mrs. William Shearer, second vice president, presiding. Mrs. Butler is away on vacation.

To fill the position of first vice president, the society elected Mrs. T. I. Metzgar.

Chief business of the meeting was discussion of the calendar for birthdays and regular club meeting dates prepared by the society for the benefit of the hospital. Deadline for names was set for October 11. Mrs. John Stanford is general chairman of the calendar and advertising; Mrs. Glenn Lowry is in charge of birthday names and Mrs. Maxwell Cohen, of organization meeting dates. All members are collecting names.

Reports were given on the two successful summer card parties, one at Camp Tamiment and one at Pocono Manor.

Refreshments were served by the team captains.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Comes now the time of year when you start moving stories around like so many pieces of jig-saw puzzles trying to make them fit. A week ago and women were groaning "I'm just not ready to begin club activities again" but this week they're turning out in enthusiastic numbers all over the place.

There's an enthusiasm engendered by meeting together that you don't anticipate when you grudgingly start to get dressed to go to it.

It's the difference between watching some of these close baseball games on television and being at the game itself. Chances are you see more of the game sitting at home but you certainly don't go yelling yourself hoarse and pounding the dog on the back when you're watching it all alone.

You may be amused by the cartoons in a magazine but unless you're sharing them with someone else, they rarely evoke a smile let alone a guffaw.

In a recent college experiment, they discovered that group thinking never rises higher than the thinking of the brightest members of the group, but considering all the meetings I attend as an experiment of my own, I can announce with pride that group thinking produces a lot more enthusiasm and the people have a lot more fun.

Mrs. Anthony C. DeNardo

De Nardo-Caponigro Wedding

Bangor — Miss Margaret M. Caponigro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Caponigro, of 212 North Fifth St., Bangor, became the bride of Anthony C. De Nardo, son of Mr. and Mrs. James De Nardo, of Liberty St., Wind Gap on Saturday morning at 10 at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, Roseto.

Rev. John Walsh performed the ceremony. Miss Marie Dario was organist and Miss Elizabeth Li-guori was soloist.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle with a lace bodice with long sleeves and a standing Queen Anne collar. The bouffant skirt had wide panels of lace in front and back and was trimmed with lace-applique and sequins and ending in a long train. She wore a flat lace hat trimmed with pearls from which fell a finger-tip veil. She carried a white Bible with an orchid and babies breath.

Her sister, Miss Joyce Caponigro, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of raspberry crystal-ette on princess lines with a full skirt and carried white and mint green poms with ivy leaves. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns and carried the same flowers. They included Miss Jane Caponigro, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Lorraine De Nardo, Mrs. Marjorie Owens.

Leo Zanchettin of Bangor was best man. Gerald Caponigro, brother of the bride, Eugene Squillaro and Louis De Nardo, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

A reception was held at Forks Valley Tavern before Mr. and Mrs. De Nardo left for a wedding trip to Florida.

The bride is a graduate of Bangor High School and is secretary for Dr. N. Cassario, D.M.O., Bangor. The bridegroom, a graduate of Pen Argyl High School, is employed at Blue Valley Food Market.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Mr. and Mrs. Erich Haneberg, of Cleveland, Ohio, have returned after spending a week with their cousin, Mrs. Myrtle Werkheiser, Stroudsburg, and calling on other relatives in the county. This was their first visit to Pennsylvania and they were enthusiastic about the mountains, the resorts, and the deer which they saw on their trips around the county.

Circle 5 On 23rd

Circle 5 of the East Stroudsburg Methodist WSCS will not meet this Thursday night but instead will meet on Thursday, September 23, at the home of Mrs. Sturgis Bogert, 89 King St., East Stroudsburg.

Making angel food cake? Start from scratch or use a mix; but as soon as you take the cake from the oven turn the pan upside down and place the tube part over the neck of a funnel or bottle. Let the cake hang this way until it is cold. To remove the cake, loosen it from the sides of the pan and the tube with a spatula held close against the pan. Turn the pan over and hit the edge sharply on the table; the cake will fall out.

Girl Scouts Of Troop 36 Get Organized

Stroudsburg Girl Scout Troop 36 met on Monday afternoon at the Girl Scout House for their first meeting of the new year when troop officers were elected: Judy Fisher, president; Carole Dildine, vice president; Eloise Cohen, scribe; Abbie Jane Frisbie, treasurer; Jeannie Douglas, Marie Edinger and Juliette Lowe, representatives; Arlene Weber and Gladys Young, planning board representatives.

Beryl Godshall and Arlene Weber were elected patrol leaders. The troop adopted the red rose as their troop crest.

Plans were made for a week-end trip to Camp Lloyd Treble on October 16 and 17, and meetings were set for the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

At the meeting, Mrs. David Toms was introduced as the new assistant leader of the troop.

Decker Descendants In Reunion

A family reunion of the descendants of DePugh Decker and Eleanor Beideman Decker was held on Sunday at the Stroudsburg Playground with six branches of the family represented. The Deckers lived up on Foxtown Hill where the family homestead is still owned by a member of the family.

The Deckers had 12 children, of whom seven had children of their own. Six of those families were represented at the reunion.

Descendants of the oldest son, John William Decker, who married Kathryn Starnier, include George Decker, Ellen Decker Albenzi, Mrs. Grace N. King, Mrs. Josephine King Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Schamp and children, Eve, Richard, Jerry and Lynn; Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bloss, and Gary and Deborah, all of the Stroudsburgs; Mrs. Jessie Leidy, Philadelphia, and Mrs. Robert Shoemaker, Ambler.

Other projects to be promoted by the Band Mothers for the benefit of the band will be a sale of candy with Mrs. Clement Weidmeyer in charge and sale of scarves and pins with the school emblem, to be arranged by Mrs. David Bernbaum.

Mrs. Carl Tewksbury, president, presided at the meeting.

Rummage Sale, Cake Walk Set By Band Mothers

The East Stroudsburg Band Mothers, meeting on Monday night at the East Stroudsburg Senior High School, mapped out a busy schedule for themselves. They set October 1 and 2 as the date for a rummage sale with Mrs. Marvin Abel as chairman. A cake walk was planned for Nov. 5.

Other projects to be promoted by the Band Mothers for the benefit of the band will be a sale of candy with Mrs. Clement Weidmeyer in charge and sale of scarves and pins with the school emblem, to be arranged by Mrs. David Bernbaum.

Mrs. Carl Tewksbury, president, presided at the meeting.

Roosevelt PTA Meets At Bangor Tonight

BANGOR—The Roosevelt Parent-Teachers Association will hold their first meeting of the season tonight at 8 p.m. in the Roosevelt Building. The meeting will be an "open-house" affair with the parents meeting with their children's respective teachers who will point the aims and objectives of the year in their teaching program. A short general meeting and refreshments will follow the "get-acquainted" program. Parents of beginning students are particularly invited to attend.

The executive board of the Roosevelt Parent-Teachers Association met on Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Grace Tinsley.

Room mothers named by Mrs. Tinsley were Mrs. James Calazzo, Mrs. John Schiavone, Mrs. Earl Miller, and Mrs. Paul Matlock.

Named as committee heads were: Mrs. Jennie Frare, Membership; Mrs. Louis DeLorenzo, Finance; Mrs. Evan Hughes, Publications; Mary Camareri, Hospitality; W. John Heard and Mrs. Joseph Ricco, Program; Mrs. Walter Cole, Merchandise; and Mrs. Paul Matlock, Publicity.

The board discussed the arrangement of a merchandise display for the near future and discussed the program for the coming year.

Portland Woman's Club Activities Begin

Portland—The Portland Woman's Club will begin the Fall season on Tuesday night with a covered dish supper at 7 in the social rooms of the Portland Baptist Church. A short business meeting has been called for 6:30 preceding the supper.

Members are asked to bring a covered dish and their own table service. This is the first meeting under the new schedule of meetings the third Tuesday of each month instead of the third Wednesday, which is on trial for one year.

Members of the club have also accepted an invitation from the Belvidere Woman's Club to attend a fashion show to be held on September 25. Reservations are being made with the Portland president by September 18.

Food, Bake Sale

Tannersville — The Women's Guild of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church, Tannersville, are planning a bake and food sale for Friday afternoon, September 17 at 3 at the firehouse. Home made vegetable soup will be featured and there will be plenty of homemade bread.

Chestnuthill PTA Meeting Thurs. Night

Brodheadville — The Chestnuthill High School Parent Teachers Association will hold its first meeting of the school year on Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Chester Stanowski, president, will preside at the meeting when plans and activities for the coming year will be discussed.

Frank Varney will speak on "Parliamentary Procedure" and Miss Lelia Flory will present a movie travelogue on her recent trip to Europe.

Refreshments will be served during the social hour which will feature "Let's Get Acquainted" as its theme.

Quakertown Class 40th Reunion

Mrs. Russell DeYoung, of the Lackawanna Trail, entertained her class of 1914 at Quakertown High School at a reunion at her home on Sunday.

A picnic dinner was served the 20 members present for their 40th reunion. Many others telephoned their greetings.

Clearview PTA Seeks 100 Per Cent

The first meeting of the Clearview Parent-Teachers Association was held on Monday night, serving as a get-acquainted meeting with officers, committee chairmen, faculty and the school calendar presented to the excellent representation of parents and teachers.

The officers were introduced, including president, Edwin Euck; vice president, Fred Kegley; secretary, Mrs. Herbert Haney; treasurer, Mrs. Walter Werkheiser.

The chairmen of the standing committees who will spearhead the work of the PTA during the year were also presented: Program, Ralph Knauf, of the faculty; membership, Mrs. Donald Reish; budget and finance, Mrs. John Baylor; trading post, Mrs. Sol Rothstein; playground, Robert Hellmann; school education, Mrs. Russell Imbt Jr.; Congress publications, Mrs. Loring Cramer; PTA magazine, Mrs. John Schoonover; hospitality, Mrs. Ray Dunkelberger and Mrs. Walter Weber; publicity, Mrs. Elwood German.

Members of the faculty were also introduced: Mrs. Mable Shook, Miss Mary Jane Shupp, and Mrs. Alma Sutton, first grades; Mrs. Esther Frisbie, Mrs. Ann Faber, and Mrs. Alma Sutton, second grade; Mrs. Evelyn Clugston, Mrs. Lillian Wagner, third grade; Miss Florence Bates, Woodrow Berger, fourth grade; Miss Alice Keller, Woodrow Berger, fifth grade; Clarence Transue, Ralph Knauf, sixth grade; Mrs. Mary Gearhart, special education; Mrs. Wendy Mazzer, music.

Handbooks with all the necessary information concerning committees, faculty and the school calendar were distributed to all persons present. Delegates were elected to attend the county PTA meetings: William Telling, Robert Hellmann, Mrs. Sol Rothstein, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harding, and Mrs. Herbert Haney.

The Clearview PTA is striving for 100 per cent membership this year which will mean that at least one parent of every child in the Clearview school should become associated with the organization. The room in the school to achieve this goal first will win a prize of $10; the second, $7.50; and each succeeding room $5 until the deadline at the Christmas holidays.

Final portion of the program was devoted to a discussion on the proposed school union. It was decided that further clarification was necessary and would be discussed at the October meeting.

Refreshments were served by hospitality committee.

Nurse Week To Be Observed By Local Nurses

The Monroe County Registered Nurses Association held its first meeting on Monday night at the General Hospital when plans were made for observance of National Nurse Week October 11 and 17. Mrs. Peg Decker, Mrs. Margy Fadden and Mrs. Peg Loney were named to arrange for newspaper and radio publicity during that week.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Dr. Paul Shiffer who showed colored slides of a trip through the gardens of the South. There were 35 present for the meeting.

It was preceded by a separate meeting of the private duty nurses and of the staff nurses. The private duty nurses chose as their project for the year the purchase of a hydraulic lift for bed-ridden patients. The staff nurses will sponsor a physical examination for all nurses in cooperation with the hospital management.

Coolbaugh PTA Council Sets Schedule

Tobyhanna — The Council of Coolbaugh Township Parent Teachers Association met last week at the home of the president, E. C. Chaplin, under whose leadership they completed the assignment of chairman for the 1954-55 season. They arranged for a number of projects.

President Chaplin announced that the first regular meeting of the PTA will be held on September 27 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Regular monthly meeting nights thereafter will be on the third Monday of each month.

The first meeting will include a report by Warren Nonnenaker, school principal, on the calendar for the school year and introduction of all teachers. At that time chairmen will contact the members of their committees to plan the year's work.

Present for the meeting were E. C. Chaplin, president; Mrs. Bessie Blake, vice president; Mrs. Layton Kinsley, treasurer; Mrs. Earl Dennis, secretary; Mrs. Warren Nonnenaker, hospitality chairman; Mrs. James Frutchey, membership; Mrs. Edgar Fritz, home room mothers; Mrs. Calvin Barlieb, entertainment.

120 Parents At St. Matthew's School Supper

St. Matthew's Parents Association opened their new year's activities with a supper at the school auditorium on Monday night with about 120 present. Mrs. James Cummings, president, presided.

Rev. William L. Donovan, district superintendent of Diocesan schools, was the guest speaker. In his talk he stressed the responsibility of parents in the education of their children from their earliest days on. Too many parents feel that the responsibility shifts when a child enters school, he said but urged parents to continue their own share of a child's education which needs the home and the school working together in all its phases.

Plans were discussed for attending a puppet show in Delaware Water Gap on September 24 and for other projects for the group.

School lunches will be served beginning September 27. It was announced with Mrs. Andrew Milazzo in charge of volunteer workers and Mrs. J. Stewart Swartley as treasurer.

Refreshments included a special salad, fruit, candy, nuts, ice cream and a special birthday cake which was presented to Mrs. Field.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Carmen De Leon and Mrs. Mary Malloy, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Sarah Boyle and Mrs. Jack Johnson of Pocono Pines. Mrs. Harry Altomero and son Winston joined the group later.

Stock Prices Irregular As Volume Mounts

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—The stock market climbed with difficulty today under the leadership of selected industrials. The erratic session featured much backing and filling as volume increased to 2,120,000 shares from yesterday's 2,030,000 shares.

Motor, oil, rubber, distiller, radio-television and chemical stocks were generally higher. But steel, aircraft, airline, copper mining, farm implement and motion picture issues leaned to the downside. Railroads and utilities were irregular.

Activity centered on groups of stocks with sentiment wavering often. Steels were depressed early, rallied briefly and then declined again. Aircrafts were neglected for the first hour, then headed lower, cuts attracted strong support shortly before noon, faded in the early afternoon, came up again, and finally closed with only modest gains. Motors, motion pictures and airlines fluctuated back and forth.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 20 cents to $134.40 as the industrial component established a new 1954 high with a 60 cent increase to $183.00.

There were 1,216 issues traded compared with 1,169 yesterday. Of these, 545 climbed and 400 eased while 65 issues reached new yearly peaks and only one slipped to a new low.

It was exactly a year ago today that the stock market snapped out of a downturn and headed upward. The climb since, as measured by most stock averages, has been steep and continuous except for extremely brief dips.

Six New Teachers Assume Duties In Bangor Schools

BANGOR—Six new teachers have begun their assignments in the Bangor School District. Five of the teachers have been assigned to the high school and one to the elementary school.

Donald Herd, Bath R.D. 1, a former Bangorian and graduate of Bangor High School, returns to Bangor to teach. Herd is a graduate with a B.S. degree from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. He previously taught one-half year at Lattrobe. He is teaching 11th grade English and is literary adviser to the school yearbook. Herd succeeded Carmella Finelli.

Kenneth Fritz, of Marshall Creek, returns to take up duties as music supervisor and band leader. Fritz formerly taught in Bangor High School for two years from 1948 to 1950. He taught history and was band leader at that time. Fritz has previously taught at St. Joseph, Corapolis and Dover, N. J. He has also taught three years in the Panama Canal Zone. Fritz holds a B.A. degree from Penn State College and has completed graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh. He succeeds Donald White.

Another newcomer is Samuel E. Schatz, a native of Allentown. Schatz graduated from Kutztown State Teachers College in 1951 with a B.S. degree in art education. His previous experience has been 2½ years of teaching in Binghamton, N. Y. He becomes the art supervisor succeeding Robert E. Doney.

Dr. Anson Hamm, of Bangor, has been elected junior high school history teacher. Dr. Hamm taught previously in Bensalem Township and was principal at Fairfield High School, Warriors Mark High School, Bowdell High School and Freemansburg Elementary schools. He held the latter post for the past six years. Hamm graduated with a B.S. degree from Penn State University and also holds M.S. and D. Ed. degrees from the same institution. Dr. Hamm has succeeded Samuel A. Smith.

John W. Sabatine, of Roseto, has been assigned to Bangor High School as a junior high school science teacher succeeding Enlo E. Conti who resigned. Sabatine has

Two Seniors Assigned To Bangor High

BANGOR—Two East Stroudsburg State Teachers College seniors started their practice teaching in Bangor High School this week. They are Nicholas Gatto, of Dunmore, and Robert Shields, of Philadelphia.

Gatto, a graduate of Dunmore High School, is active in the Varsity S Club and a member of the varsity basketball squad for the past three years. He is teaching ninth grade civics. His critic teacher is Arnon Williams, of the high school staff.

Shields has been assigned to 12th grade problems of democracy classes. Quite active, Shields is a member of Kappa Delta Pi and Sigma Theta fraternities and is also a member of the Stroud staff. He graduated from Northeast High School, Philadelphia. J. L. Williams has been assigned as his critic teacher.

Over 400 Exhibits Entered In Vocational Ag Fair

Entries Come From Seven Area Schools

MORE THAN 400 exhibits will be shown in the 14th annual vocational agriculture exhibit at Wyckoff-Sears store in Stroudsburg.

The show opens Thursday and continues through Saturday. According to Wilmer B. Frisbie, vocational ag supervisor for Monroe County, the entries come from seven districts—Greene-Dreher, Sterling, Stroudsburg, Pocono and Polk.

Included in the list of 400 entries announced so far are the following: 42 head of dairy cattle, 15 head of swine, ten head of sheep, 45 pens of poultry, 42 crop exhibits, 19 egg exhibits and 226 vegetable entries.

Exhibits will be set up at the Wyckoff-Sears parking lot area throughout the day Wednesday. Dairy and swine exhibits will be accepted until 10 a. m. Thursday, Frisbie said.

The vegetable and farm crop exhibits will be judged first, J. B. Park, official judge for the two divisions, will begin inspecting entries at 9:30 a. m. Thursday. Poultry entries will be judged Thursday morning also by Harry Blake.

At 1 p. m. the FFA dairy and livestock judging contest will be held. Two classes of Holstein heifers will be judged by teams of three boys representing each FFA chapter in the competition. A livestock judging team will judge one class of gilts and one of ewes.

Judging of dairy heifer entries will begin at 1:30 p. m. with Lloyd Lebo, Lebanon as judge and Tom

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Mars, the only favorably situated planet today, spells action, determination and aggression. But do give careful thought to all activities.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Your Venus and other planets' aspects now warn against carelessness, being overconfident or reckless. The day is somewhat restricting so self-restraint will be important. Military matters are favored.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Calculus and good timing crossed in all interests and activities. Astute planning, perhaps conferences, could be helpful. Much can be accomplished in a quiet way.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—Today's aspects urge aggressive co-operation with all. Bickering should be taboo. A fine day for hard work, endurance, bravery.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—A Challenge to you energetic, oftentimes aggressive (hot fair) folks today. Just remember to keep your emotions under control, do your best and you will attain some benefits.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—This can be a disappointing period if you fail to realize that results do not always show immediately. You may have to be especially patient now for benefits to materialize. Be hopeful.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Similar to Taurus today. Maintain an even balance and team skill with practical experience to smooth out the rough places, at least give you an even break for your efforts. Your best!

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)—Your Mars in excellent position. This can be a productive day if you don't procrastinate or force issues, either. Study your schedule and follow common sense rules in everything. You'll November 21 to December 20 (Sagittarius)—Keep within your capacities for accomplishment, don't strain health or disposition and you can make progress. Don't expect the unreasonable; be conscientious, careful handling money.

December 21 to January 20 (Capricorn)—It's up to you and as industrious as ever, you should keep pace with day's demands. If on vacation, think of health, avoid extremes and be happy.

January 21 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Capitulation on your talents, and abilities for the "brain and brawn" activities probably scheduled now. No need to rush or worry. Properly allocate duties, taking care of essentials first.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—"A little with contentment is great gain" may well be your slogan for today. But don't let down if fresh opportunities come your way. Often we gain more by the "extra" try.

VOI! BOILY TODAY! are steadfast, courageous, devoted to family, good friends, will do a thorough job in whatever is your duty. You have an analytical, intuitive mind, are usually just, sympathetic, kind. Virgians are noted for their skill and talent, could succeed especially at designing, decorating, millinery, dressmaking, or on the stage, in journalism, as critic. You may have unusual mechanical ability; enjoy learning, also helping others to a better life. Correct any tendency to worry needlessly. Take recreational periods and mingle with interesting people for your own good. Birthdate: Wm. H. Taft, 27th U. S. president; Jas.
